The house at 610 Upland Road is located in Sudbrook Park in Pikesville in the Third District of Baltimore County. Listed on the National Register of Historic Places in 1973, Sudbrook Park Historic District is significant as a small community designed and planned by Frederick Law Olmstead. It was planned as a summer resort for wealthy Baltimore residents at the turn of the 20th century. In 1890, the Sudbrook Company purchased a 204 acre tract just south of Reisterstown Road in Pikesville. During the hiatus of his career, Olmstead was commissioned to design Sudbrook Park. One acre of land was set aside by the company for a depot for the Western Maryland Railway.

Known for his emphasis on nature, Olmstead designed Sudbrook Park with importance on curvilinear streets, large lots, and an abundance of mature trees and vegetation. The houses in Sudbrook Park were designed with several deed restrictions. The structure was required to be sited forty feet back from the street and ten feet from neighboring property lines. The height of each property was to be three stories and the styles allowed were rural and not urban.(1)

Built in 1895, the dwelling at 610 Upland Road was first rented by Sudbrook Company to Samuel K. Merrick. Merrick was waiting for his house next door to be built in 1896. In 1903, Judge H. Arthur Stump rented it in the summer months. In 1910, Stump bought it and turned it as his primary residence. He had a law office with Henry D. Harlan (708 Cliveden Road). Governor Austin L. Crothers appointed Stump to the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, a post he held until his death in 1934.(2)
